

Dr Darren Saunders ✓

@whereisdaz

...

There's something... *special* about a government threatening to fine people for not reporting tests they can't access or afford in the first place.

It's almost as if they don't want anyone to test themselves 🤔

10:10 AM · Jan 12, 2022 · TweetDeck

David Shoebridge ✓ @ShoebridgeMLC · 52m

...

It's deeply insulting to be told to get your own RAT tests, take complete responsibility for your health in a public health crisis & then be threatened with a $1,000 fine if you don't upload results. People don't need threats in a pandemic, they need help

Mark Burdack @BurdackMark · 2h

...

Fining people over RATs will have negative health consequences. Symptomatic people in poorer and rural households may avoid testing so they can continue to earn an income. We need to manage testing as a health measure not a criminal measure. theguardian.com/australia-news...

@CroakeyNews